Dear Mr. Phillips:

Today I received your book through the kind attention of Mr. de Hauke who personally brought it to me, in which you described and characterize your collection. In it I see again with great pleasure reproductions of many of the paintings which I had admired so much in your gallery. I am touched by the interest you take in my painting despite the many great faults that I myself find in them. I always work with the hope of correcting my style or way of painting, and I am not at all indifferent to the knowledge that certain (kindred) souls follow me in this effort.

I keep happy memories of my visit to your gallery and often think of the enjoyable painting of your charming wife, who, it seems to me, should continue to cultivate her gift.

With kind regards,

P. Bonnard
